

GETTING A FAMILY ABUSE PREVENTION ACT RESTRAINING ORDER
Procedures vary from court to court. Check with your local court for filing instructions.

What Are The Requirements For Getting A Restraining Order?

- 1. Age You must be at least 18 years old or
You are younger than 18 and the person who abused you is at least 18 and
 - you are (or were) married to that person or
 - you have been in a sexual relationship with that person.
- 2. Relationship The person who abused you is:
 - your husband, wife or domestic partner
 - your former husband, wife or domestic partner
 - an adult with whom you are living (or did live) in a sexual relationship
 - an adult with whom you have been in a sexual relationship in the last two years
 - an adult related to you by blood, marriage, or adoption
 - the parent of your child
- 3. Abuse In the last 180 days*, the person who abused you must have:
 - physically injured you or
 - tried to physically injure you or
 - made you afraid that he or she was about to physically injure you or
 - made you have sexual relations against your wishes by using force or threats of force

- 4. Ongoing Danger You are in danger of more abuse very soon, and the person who abused you is a threat to the physical safety of you or your children.

(*Any time period when the person who abused you was in jail or lived more than 100 miles from your home does not count as part of the 180 day period. This means you may still be able to get a restraining order even if it has been more than 180 days since you were abused.)

NOTE: A judge cannot give you a restraining order solely for threats to take your children, rude behavior, verbal or emotional abuse, or damaged property unless you were in fear that you were about to be physically injured.*

What Is A Restraining Order?

A restraining order is a court order that tells the person who hurt you (the respondent) to leave you and your children alone. It can tell the respondent to move from your home and can deal with temporary custody and parenting time of your children. You can ask the judge to add other orders (listed in the restraining order papers) that you think will help you stay safe. You also can ask the court to include an order that says the respondent cannot have guns. A restraining order can deal with custody and parenting time issues only temporarily. To get “permanent” custody and parenting time orders, you will need to file a family law case, such as a divorce or a custody case.

Where Do I File For A Restraining Order And How Much Does It Cost?

You must file for a restraining order in the courthouse in the county where either you or the respondent live. Getting a restraining order is free.

How Do I Fill Out The Papers To Get A Restraining Order?

Use a blue or black ballpoint pen and write clearly. Answer each question carefully and tell the truth. Do not write in the part of the papers that say "Judge's Initials." You will need to sign in front of a notary or court clerk. Bring ID (photo ID is best). If available, a court facilitator or advocate may be able to help you with the forms. They cannot answer legal questions.

What Happens After I Fill Out the Papers?

A time will be set for the judge to look over your papers. The judge may ask you some questions.

If the judge gives you the restraining order, court staff will make copies for you. You will need to have one of the copies hand-delivered to the other person by a sheriff's deputy (free in Oregon), a private process server or any adult, as long as the person lives in the state where the papers are served. You cannot serve the papers yourself. The server is required to complete and file with the court a declaration of service. There is a form in the packet, but some servers use their own forms. Talk to the court clerk about ways to get the respondent served. The respondent cannot be punished for violating (not following) the restraining order until after service.

Will A Hearing Be Scheduled?

In a few cases, the judge may wait to make a custody order and will set a hearing to get more information about the children from you and the respondent. You must go to that hearing or the order will probably be dismissed (dropped).

Otherwise, the respondent has 30 days from the date of service to request a hearing. If the respondent does not request a hearing, the restraining order will stay in effect.

If the respondent does request a hearing, it will be held very quickly. You may have as little as two days to get ready to go to the hearing. If the hearing is scheduled more than a few days away, the court will send you notice of the time and date of the hearing in the mail. If there is not enough time to mail you a notice, the court may contact you by telephone. Be sure the court always has your current contact addresses and contact phone numbers so you get notice of any hearing. You also can call the court to check to see if a hearing has been set.

You must go to the hearing or the order will probably be dropped. If you cannot go to the hearing due to an emergency, call the court clerk right away. It may be helpful to have an attorney represent you at the hearing, but it is not required.

What Happens At The Hearing Requested by the Respondent?

The purpose of the hearing is to decide whether or not the restraining order will remain in effect, and if it does remain in effect, if the order will stay the same or change in some way. The judge may decide not to change the order even if both sides agree that they want the same changes.

At the hearing, you must prove that you have been abused and that you are in danger of further abuse. You should be ready to give your own testimony, call witnesses, and give the judge any evidence you have (such as photos of your injuries). In some cases, if the restraining order stays in effect, it will be against the law for the respondent to have guns. If you are worried about your safety, you may ask for a sheriff's deputy to be present in the courtroom.

How Long Does A Restraining Order Last?

A restraining order lasts for one year from the date the judge signed it or until it is dropped by a judge. It can be renewed for one year at a time, if the judge believes you are likely still in danger. To renew the order, you must file the court paperwork before the order ends.

What Can I Do If The Respondent Violates (Does Not Follow) The Restraining Order?

You can call the police. The officer must arrest the respondent if there is a good reason to believe a violation has happened. The respondent can be charged with contempt of court. If found guilty of contempt, the respondent can be fined, placed on probation, or put in jail.

It is best that you carry a copy of the restraining order with you at all times and that you not contact the other party. A restraining order does not guarantee your safety. You can take other steps to stay safe. A domestic violence or sexual assault program can help. For information, go to www.ojd.state.or.us/familylaw and look for the “Domestic Violence Information” link on the left side of the page.

What If I Want To Drop The Restraining Order?

You must file papers at the courthouse to ask the judge to drop the order. The order remains in effect until the judge dismisses it. It may take a few days for law enforcement to get notice of the dismissal.

Can The Restraining Order Be Changed While It Is In Effect?

Only custody or parenting time parts of the order can be changed (except at a hearing to contest the order within the first 30 days after the respondent has been served). The party (you or the respondent) who wants to make a change must file paperwork at the courthouse. The paperwork will be served on the other party and the judge will either set a hearing, or ask you to file a written response, to decide whether or not the custody or parenting time orders should be changed.

Do I Need A Lawyer?

If you have questions about how the law works or what it means, you may need to talk to a lawyer. You are not required to have a lawyer to obtain the restraining order, but you can have a lawyer represent or help you if you wish. If you need help finding a lawyer, you may call the Oregon State Bar’s Lawyer Referral Service at 503.684.3763 or 800.452.7636. If you believe you cannot afford a lawyer, ask court staff if your area has a legal services (legal aid) program that might help you.

What If I Need An Accommodation Or An Interpreter?

If you have a disability and need an accommodation, or you are unable to speak English and need a foreign language interpreter, you must tell the court as soon as possible, but at least four days before your hearing. Tell the clerk that you have a disability and what type of assistance you need or prefer, or which language you speak.

If you do not go to the hearing, the Restraining Order may be upheld (continued) and all matters decided against you. If you want an earlier hearing date than the date specified above, you must complete the request for hearing form below and mail or deliver it to the address on Page 2.

- An “Exceptional Circumstances” Hearing Has NOT Been Scheduled. (This means that the box in the upper left hand corner of page 1 is BLANK.) If you want to contest (object to) the terms of this order, including the award of temporary custody to Petitioner, you must complete the attached “REQUEST FOR HEARING” form (on Page 3) and mail or deliver it to the address on Page 2.

A REQUEST FOR HEARING must be made within 30 days after you receive the order. You must include your address and telephone number with your request for a hearing. The hearing will be held within 21 days, or within 5 days if you are contesting a temporary custody provision (not parenting time). At the hearing, a judge will decide whether the order should be canceled, changed or continued. If you do not go to the hearing, the restraining order may be upheld (continued) and all matters decided against you.

If no hearing date has been set already and you do not request a hearing within 30 days after you receive this Restraining Order, this restraining order will continue in effect as issued.

Enforceability of the Restraining Order

The Restraining Order you have received is in effect and remains in effect until the court modifies or dismisses it or until it expires. The order may also be renewed upon a finding that a person in the Petitioner’s situation would reasonably fear further acts of abuse by you if the order is not renewed. If you are arrested for violating this order, the security amount (bail) is $5,000, unless a different amount is ordered by the court.

This Restraining Order, or any Order continuing or changing this Order, is enforceable in every county in Oregon. It is also enforceable in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, tribal lands and territories of the United States.

Violation of the Restraining Order

Violation of any part of this restraining order, or any order continuing or changing this order, constitutes contempt of court, punishable by a fine of up to $500 or one percent of your annual gross income, whichever is greater, or a jail term of up to six months, or both. Other consequences may also be imposed for contempt.

CONTESTING A FAMILY ABUSE PREVENTION ACT RESTRAINING ORDER (FAPA)

Procedures vary from court to court. Check with your local court for filing instructions.

WHAT IF I DISAGREE WITH SOME OR ALL OF THE RESTRAINING ORDER?

The judge granted the restraining order based on input from the other side (the Petitioner). If you disagree with information given to the judge, or you disagree with all or part of the order, you have a right to give the judge your input.

HOW DO I OBJECT TO THE RESTRAINING ORDER?

If you want a judge to consider whether the restraining order should remain in effect, or change some of the things in the restraining order, you must fill out the form called "Request for Hearing." The "Request for Hearing" form is part of the court paper that says "Notice to Respondent/Request for Hearing" on the top, right hand side of the page. You should have received a copy of this form when you were served with the restraining order. If you did not receive one, you may download the Request for Hearing form from the state website, www.ojd.state.or.us/familylaw, or contact the court that issued the order.

You have 30 days after you are served with the restraining order to ask the judge to dismiss or change any part of the order, including child custody, by filing a "Request for Hearing." The Request for Hearing must be filed with the court within 30 days from the date you were served. If you request a hearing and the judge continues the Restraining Order, federal law may prohibit you from possessing or purchasing any firearm or ammunition (including hunting rifles).

If it has been more than 30 days since the date you were served, the only type of hearing you may request is to make changes to custody and/or parenting time parts of the Restraining Order. Either party may request this type of hearing. You may request such a hearing by asking the clerk at the courthouse for the forms needed to "modify" a restraining order. The judge may schedule a hearing to decide whether or not to change the order. The judge may decide not to change the order even if both sides agree that they want the same changes.

WHAT HAPPENS IF I DO NOT OBJECT?

If you do not ask for a contested hearing within the first 30 days after you receive the court papers, the Restraining Order will continue for one year from the date the judge signed it. It can also be renewed for one year at a time after that.

WHEN WILL THE CONTESTED HEARING BE HELD?

If the court has already ordered a hearing about custody of your children (sometimes called an "exceptional circumstance hearing"): If the court has found that there are "exceptional circumstances" regarding custody of the child/ren, the court will schedule a hearing to be held within 14 days. The boxes on the upper left-hand corner of the restraining order and "Notice to Respondent/Request for Hearing" will give you information about the date and place for that hearing. At the hearing, you will be asked to provide information about your children.

Important: If the court has scheduled a hearing and you have other objections to the restraining order (besides those about child custody), you must tell them to the judge at the hearing that has been scheduled by the court. You cannot fill out a Request for Hearing form afterwards and request another hearing.

If the court has NOT ordered a hearing but you would like to request one: If you ask the judge to make a change relating to child custody, the court must hold the hearing within 5 business days of your request. If you are not asking the judge to change child custody, the court must hold the hearing within 21 days of your request. If the hearing is scheduled more than a few days away, the court will send you notice of the time and date of the hearing in the mail. If there is not enough time to mail you a notice, the court may contact you by telephone. Be sure the court always has your current contact addresses and contact phone numbers so you get notice of any hearing. You also can call the court to check to see if a hearing has been set.

If you do not go to the hearing, you will lose your chance to ask the judge to dismiss or change the Restraining Order. If you cannot go to the hearing due to an emergency, call the court clerk right away. It may be helpful to have an attorney represent you at the hearing, but it is not required.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN AT THE HEARING I REQUEST?

The purpose of the hearing is to decide whether or not the restraining order will remain in effect, and if it does remain in effect, if the order will stay the same or change in some way.

If you would like more information about what to expect at the hearing, go to www.ojd.state.or.us/familylaw and look for the “Domestic Violence Information” link on the left side. From there, click on “Information for Respondents.”

DO I NEED A LAWYER?

If you have questions about how the law works or what it means, you may need to talk to a lawyer. You are not required to have a lawyer to contest the restraining order, but you can have a lawyer represent or help you if you wish. If need help finding a lawyer, you may call the Oregon State Bar’s Lawyer Referral Service at 503.684.3763 or 800.452.7636. If you believe you cannot afford a lawyer, ask court staff if your area has any legal services (legal aid) programs that might help you.

WHAT IF I NEED AN ACCOMMODATION OR AN INTERPRETER?

If you have a disability and need an accommodation, or you are unable to speak English and need a language interpreter, you must tell the court as soon as possible, but at least four days before your hearing. Tell the clerk that you have a disability and what type of assistance you need or prefer, or which language you speak. If the clerk says there will be a “5 day hearing,” be sure to tell the clerk you will need an interpreter or accommodations the same day you file your “Request for Hearing” form.
