Full Details

On Tuesday, August 3, 2010, at about 5:50 a.m., Sheriff's deputies were called to the Nike World Campus (1 SW Bowerwood Drive, 97006) in unincorporated Washington County, to take a report of another assault involving a female jogger and a man on a bicycle.

Several reports have been taken involving a man grabbing women on the buttocks as he rides by them on a bicycle. These attacks have been occurring on and around the Nike campus over the last month (click here for a previous press release).

The most recent incident occurred while the 42-year-old female victim was jogging around the Nike campus on Tuesday. She was crossing over a bridge on Del Hayes Way when a man riding a red and white, older, ten-speed or cruiser-style bicycle rode up behind her and grabbed her forcefully on the buttocks. The victim said she did not see the man's face, but described the bicycle and a two-toned grey sweatshirt. The body of the sweatshirt was dark grey or black and the sleeves and hood were light grey. The hood was over the man's head. Just as in the previous attacks, the victim reported that the suspect rode casually away after grabbing her.

Just prior to the assault another person was jogging in the opposite direction and got a good look at the suspect just as he was passing by. The witness was aware that a suspect had been grabbing women so she turned around and saw him grab the suspect on the behind. The witness also described the man's bicycle as red and white. She said it was medium size. She described the suspect as a Hispanic male adult, average height and weight, wearing a two-tone sweatshirt. She said he had on dark pants and was riding casually.

The witness was interviewed by a Beaverton Police detective today who was able to draw a composite sketch of the suspect.
